

PlaneTechs is your #1 source for a qualified aviation workforce solution to support your DoD and government projects.

With PlaneTechs on your team, you can:

- Reduce the cost of labor
- Increase productivity
- Eliminate downtime

That's because PlaneTechs specializes in just one thing: aviation. We have the people, know-how and services you need to get the job done.

The PlaneTechs Mission

Since 1997, prime contractors, manufacturers, and MROs nationwide have partnered with PlaneTechs for aviation workforce solutions. We employ thousands of A&P mechanics, aviation technicians, avionics and electrical technicians, machinists, sheet metal specialists and more, and deliver them to you anytime, anywhere. PlaneTechs clients include:

- Military aviation maintenance organizations
- OEMs and defense logistics contractors
- Contractor Logistics Support programs
- MRO and total lifecycle sustainment projects
- Aircraft manufacturers
- Specialty service providers
- Small disadvantaged businesses

Operational Savings

Our clients report significant operational savings when they partner with PlaneTechs for their aviation maintenance employees. Those savings come from three main areas:

- Reduction of fixed and variable labor costs
- Relief from the burden of employment
- Elimination of production downtime

Partnering with PlaneTechs

When you choose PlaneTechs as your workforce partner, we'll team with you to cover the labor portion of your contracts.

We'll ensure you have the right number of people with the necessary skills and credentials to complete your work. Once onsite, our contract employees will work under your supervision and you'll maintain control to sign off on their work.

Military Precision

You need more than just people: you need the RIGHT people for every aspect of your job, with the precise skills, experience, background and attitude you require. PlaneTechs' employees are joining your team for the duration of the job; they need to fit. Our candidate management technology means we can identify mechanics and technicians who meet your needs with unparalleled precision.

Rapid Workforce Delivery

PlaneTechs can meet your manpower needs faster than any other workforce provider around. How can we make that claim? Our proprietary database of more than 75,000 aviation technicians means we can access more talent with experience on more platforms, for assignment in more places. Translation: speed. And, we're not done yet. Our in-house recruiting team is at work literally around the clock, seeking out talent, assessing their skills and background, and ensuring compliance with the precise requirements you specify.

Top Talent

Our in-depth understanding of DoD and government aviation gives PlaneTechs the intelligence and experience to help you manage to performance based outcomes.

The PlaneTechs corps of contract employees is qualified to meet a broad spectrum of aviation sustainment and readiness needs and possesses the DoD and government experience you demand. Whether you require personnel for fixed-wing, rotary-wing or tilt rotor manned aircraft, uninhabited air vehicles (UAVs), or GFE aircraft engines, PlaneTechs can deliver top talent.
